In regard to a meeting of the women's department of the Baptist church at Chattanooga recently the Daily Times of that city contained an article that will interest the people of Dothan. The following is a part of the item:

Dr. Olin West of Nashville would address the meeting on the subject of "How the School Improvement Association Can Help Eradicate the Hookworm Disease." Dr. West is a member of the state board of health and has been engaged for many months in a fight against the new disease which has been so much discussed in the past.

The doctor is a bookworm and is a bit of a snob. But was appalled when his last words of greeting to the speaker plunged into his stomach with an eagerness to tell him know about this mysterious little parasite that revealed his interest in the disease. Many women are rather nervous and fearful. The doctor described the daily work of the little flies who fly and existed everywhere around each and every fly. The flies then in this way only. The speaker in the course of his remarks referred to the "dirty" of Dothan Ala. who he said later found to be afflicted with the "hookworm." By strange coincidence the next speaker was a joyful daughter Dothan. Mrs. Robert Ghent. Mrs. Ghent's opening remarks were laced with a unbelief in "hookworms" anywhere and in "them" never. It was a land

In the yearly report Chief Jones of the Dothan fire department is now preparing he will state that during the year of 1910 that only 60 fires occurred in the city of Dothan, none of them being serious affairs. There were 68 calls in all, but eight of them were false alarms.

This is considered by him a small amount of fires for a town the size of Dothan to have in 12 months, and that this should have some bearing on the insurance companies who were so greatly affected when Dothan showed such a high fire rate.

Fire Marshal Rice, in regard to Dothan, stated that there were 2 fires in this city in January of 1910 while there were only four and only 60 during the whole 12 months.

The amount of insurance on the property, the loss to insurance companies and property holder and the amount at risk will be figured out later.

she said. Then, in a few happy words the speaker asked the ladies to forget "hookworms" and all those "creepy" things, "come with her to beautiful D. than." Her outline of the work done there was interestingly told. She wishes to secure for the industrial school there the hearty endorsement of the association during the present convention.

There's a Bill

There are friends of the dispensary in this town. It looked a while that the saloon advocates would be the only people to ask the legislature to do something. The town administration, largely, might be said to favor saloons.

A bill has been prepared, and submitted to Tom Whitley, asking that a dispensary bill for Houston be created.

As whiskey bills go, this is probably about the most likely one that could be drawn.

In substance, it provides that the town in which the dispensary is operated shall have one-third of the proceeds; one-third to go into the general school fund of the county and one-third to go for building good roads for the county.

This bill would only give the town wherein such dispensary is operated one-third, which is a good deal different to the old bill we operated under in Dothan.

The bill names five citizens of the county, who are to act as the dispensary board, for four or five years, and when their term of office expires, the bill provides that the governor shall appoint their successors. This board is a county board, and would have supervision over all dispensaries that might be created in the county.

The bill further provides that the board shall buy all stock at regular meetings, which shall be held twice a month, which are open to the public, and that each of the members shall sign the order for the booze. It further provides that all liquor must be purchased in sealed packages, and sold that way.

When it is read carefully, about all of the objectionable features of the old bill are eliminated.

The house the dispensary is to occupy must have no entrance from any point except the front.

You can tell from the reading of the bill that the man who drew it was familiar with the objectionable features of the old system, and that this one is designed to do away with any possible graft.

The members of the commission shall receive $5, we believe, for attending the regular semi-monthly meetings, and nothing for special meetings, nor nothing for a meeting at which they were not present.

It is likely that a dispensary in Dothan would pay something like $60,000 per annum, if properly managed, at this time.

There was an eye to the making of this bill a popular one, as you can tell by the reading.

It is known that we are going to have good roads, if it takes taxing the people for it. This will give the good roads, and the patrons of the dispensary will pay for them, as well as taking care of the school fund of the county.

This bill will meet some opposition, for there is an open saloon bill, or petition out, with the backing of many people who favor the saloons, and by many more who think that it will help rental values in this town. Probably they think, too, to squeeze in a special bill for Dothan, that it would keep liquor out of the other smaller towns of the county, thus making Dothan the Jacksonville or Pensacola of this section of Alabama, supplying the mail business for a large dry territory around the city.

Some of those favoring the dispensary are of the opinion that an election should be called, allowing the people of the county to vote on whether the county is to have prohibition, or whether we are to have the dispensary, or whether it is to be open saloons. It would bring it before the people to settle, and this isn't unfair.

So we are to have some politics—whiskey politics, even if a great majority of us did say that we wanted prohibition to stand just like it was.

It is not unfair to say that prohibition is a failure in this town purely and solely for the reason that a proper effort is not being made to stop blind tigers. The more lax the authorities are in trying to enforce the laws, the sooner they think the people will tire of the present laws, and eagerly ask for whiskey in some form.

Two a Week.

The Advertiser took a couple of shots at Gov. Comer last week. They first told how he was going to be a candidate for the Senate, and how he was going to get the steam beaten out of him when he tried it, and the next one just felt sorry for him, because he was down and out, and couldn't any more come back than Jeffries. I drug out all of the defeats before the eyes of the public, but said but little of how bad he beat their man when he was really in the running.

If the Advertiser keeps this kind of talk up, we doubt if the governor continues his subscription to the paper when he moves back to his farm.

Before 1900 came on, we thought nothing of putting it "1-1-9" for January 1, 1899, but when we got tangled up with two naughts on the end, we wouldn't risk one, and put both of them. We have kept it up, putting the two last figures of the year. It is time now to try putting, say for January 3, 1911, 1-3-1, those of us who haven't time to write it out.

People are like sheep in many ways, but are very much unlike them in some. When the leader jumps the fence, the rest of the flock of sheep try to follow by that route, it is said, but you never hear a sheep yell when the dogs get hold. You get most people by the wool and they let the neighborhood know that something has disturbed them.

It is a blessed thing to give, which can be noted on the countenance of the husband and father, dishing out change to pay for the week's wash, or fishing jitneys and pennies for Tommy and Little Sister as they start for Sunday school.

And for goodness sake, make a resolution about keeping your premises, especially the garden, and the back yard, cleaned up all of this year, and your neighbors will rise up and call you blessed, instead of throwing something at you.

We are held to have some hunting around during this month. We are going to see whether or not we want whiskey by the tiger route, the dispensary, or the open saloons, well regulated ones. You know.

This is also a good time for the enterprising merchants to go about their business of selling what winter goods they have on hand at a price that will make the public much more getting on the bargain list.

The old year is gone, and will be soon forgotten, but we ought to remember it kindly. It was good to most of us, and we ought to be generally satisfied to come out as well during this year as we did last.

If you will resolve to pay all your bills when you have the money, and before it is spent for something else, this will be one resolution that you will be proud of, if faithfully kept.

We never they got to making airplanes that will fly upside down, sideways, backwards, with or without gasoline power, they will have done away with some of the danger in flying them.

Won't we have good roads though? They are something that every man, woman and child in the county can enjoy, to say nothing of the mules and horses.

Now for the deals in guano. The farmers of this section are particular about their guano, and they go about buying or arranging for it early in the year.

And this is the month when some changes are made in the official forces of the state capital, and the various county capitals.

The new year coming in on Sunday probably made some of us forget to make our annual resolution.

This is the time for the bills that were made just before Christmas—the ones we told you not to make.

It just takes practice to write it 1911.

We have two of those desirable lots on the corner of Newton and St. Andrews streets left. There are no more valuable lots for residences in Dothan and they are as cheap now as they will ever be. The owner will build homes for the buyers of these lots on the payment of one-fourth cash. The balance may be paid like rent.

WAIVE CASE TO ACTION OF THE GRAND JURY

J. A. Hartzog and Henry Culverhouse, charged with assault and attempt to murder on Ed Adams, today waived their case to the action of the grand jury in the probate court.

It will be remembered that a few weeks ago Ed Adams was found locked in his store, badly beaten and almost dead. Later Hartzog and Culverhouse were arrested charged with the crime. The case created quite a sensation at the time and especially after it was reported in the city that Ed Adams, who is well known here, was dead. It is reported that Adams made an effort to get the men to compromise the case, but they refused, stating that they would prefer trial.

Adams' place of business, where the trouble occurred, is located near Gordon. Hartzog lives at Bascomb, Fla., and Culverhouse is from Dele county.

A Good Business

I wish to thank each and every customer for the liberal patronage given me during the fall and winter. My trade has been better than it ever was before.

Just at this time, however, I have a lot of odd suits, for men and boys, and overcoats, that must be sold to make room for the spring goods. This winter stuff will be sold at Manufacturers' Cost. Think of what that means at this season.

A GENUIN SELLING EVEN

SAXON-HEARD-WILLIAMS C

WILL HOLD THEIR SEMI-ANNUAL CLEARING SAL
January 6th, to 14th, Inclusive.

Dothan has been called the "Town of Sales." It's true Dothan has had sales—some genuine—some questionable. But no matter how exacting you are—we promise a "Feast" for you that has never before been "Spread" in Alabama. The primary object of this Clean Up Sale is to clear out all winter stock. To help do this we have thrown our entire stock in the selling at prices that are emphatically a tremendous sacrifice.

At the low prices we will offer our stock—it's not a question of selling but of quickly moving the merchandise. Every item that enters into this great sale is of that superior character that has built up and expanded the Saxon & Heard business to a prestige unsurpassed by any house in the State. The goods must be sold before the arrival of our Spring stocks—the largest for which we have ever contracted.

Every Item in the House Included in Sale.

NEGRO BOY ARRESTED FOR WATCH THEFT

Williams, a negro boy, 15 years of age, is in the city jail awaiting trial in the mayor's court, for the theft of a watch he is alleged to have stolen several days ago.

The negro, it is claimed, went into a Foster street home to get some clothes for a pressing shop and while there took the watch. The watch was a very valuable one. The boy states that he bought the watch from another negro boy.

W. M. Eddy, of near Gordon, was here today.

Morgan Lisenby, of near Ashford, was in Dothan today.

W. W. Reeves, of DeFuniak, Fla., is in the city.

Hire Education.

"What is a college, papa?" asked the child, according to Life.

"A college, Pauline, is a cross between a country club and an orphan asylum."

"Then why do such nice boys go there, papa?"

"Because rich boys from 16 to 20 are too old to be spanked and not old enough to reason."

"Do they learn to reason in college?"

"Not if the reverend professors can help it, daughter."

"Then why do they go?"

"They go to be got rid of, because they would misbehave at home."

"Don't they misbehave at college, then?"

"Well, yes, but their parents don't know about it, unless they go to the football games or read the police reports."

"But don't their parents teach them morals, papa?"

"Nay, nay, Pauline; it's cheaper to get it done by hired professors."

"Do the professors know all about morals?"

"Not at all my dear, but they know exactly what parents expect them to say."

"Is that what makes a complete curriculum?"

"No, dear, a complete curriculum is an imitation education furnished by endowed institutions at less than cost to those who are best able to pay for it."

A Reliable Cough Medicine.

Is a valuable family friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfills this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure." For sale by N. H. McCallum.

This Sounds Familiar.

Detective "Billy" Burns returned the other day from a tour through the country, in the interest of the Bankers' Association, says the Cincinnati Times-Star. He was profoundly impressed with the merits of Western Pennsylvania as a place of residence.

"Nothing like it for a man that's inclined to be a bit low-spirited," said Mr. Burns. "They don't take any chances with you there at all. Why if you go into a store and ask for a bit of clothes-line, the store keeper will open a big book."

"What do you want this rope for?" he asks.

"The old woman needs it to hang the wash on."

"And what's your name?" the store keeper asks.

"Herman Wilhelm Pfeiffer."

"G'wan," says the store keeper, closing the book. "You can't get no rope here without a prescription."

Recommended to Herself.

A negro servant had been discharged by her mistress because of various failings, and a few days afterward called with a request for a recommendation, says the Housekeeper.

Her former employer, with the best heart of the world, decided to assist her in obtaining a new situation, and wrote a letter which dilated upon all the colored girl's good qualities and made no mention of her short comings.

Dimah read the letter through with glowing eyes, her black face shining more with every word. When she had finished she turned to the lady and said:

"Laws, missus, but yo' cert'ly did say dat nice. Now, missus, with er strong recommendation like dat let back me, don't yo' think yo' could hire me fo' dat job eragin'?"

Look For The Bee Hive.

On the package when you buy Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs and colds. None genuine without the Bee Hive. Remember the name Foley's Honey and Tar and reject any substitute. For sale by N. H. McCallum.

Chairman went up to the organ left and said to the little boy in patched clothes who had blown the organ:

"Well, Freddie, what do we owe you for your work this evening?"

"The little boy looked at the chairman in genuine astonishment."

"Why, sir," he said, "didn't the rest of the talent give their services?"
